Freelancing is not MLM. Be guided.

Yes we have to be very careful with this one right here. Know that freelancing is never an MLM or a multi level marketing scheme. There are people who are out there, you know, trying to promote freelancing. But it's not actually freelancing, it's not actually General Virtual assistance. But they want to hire people to like, or to pay or to do other things. Be guided. You know by following me or other coaches sharing information on what freelancing is all about. For Surge Marketplace, we have been here for the past 7 years as a company. And me, as a virtual assistant for 12 years. So, you can go ahead, trust or know this account, or other account, that are really promoting and are really established in freelancing.

Know that freelancing is an exchange of service, it is work, it is remote work, online work. It is an exchange of service from the client giving the task to the virtual assistant doing the task and once that's completed, the virtual assistant is paid to be careful with the different schemes out there when they are asking me to sign up but then gets payment when they're asking you to do something without payment that might be a scam so, be guided.
